

THE COVENANT OF MAN WITH THE LIVING EARTH

*(This text is to be spoken on July 25, 2025 at 18:00 CET/CEST, just before the time when the meditation begins)
(Vision Image: Protection of the Earth)*

It is now 6:00 p.m. Central European Time, and at this momentous moment, many people are coming together and renewing the "Covenant of Men with the Living Earth."

Like us here, people everywhere have come together in the spiritual circle to show that we remember. We remember that we are the children of the one Mother, the Earth, and therefore no one is above or below anyone. We stand together now, not only to give thanks, but also to radiate hope. Today, we renew our lifelong agreement with the Living Earth and make an eternal commitment for all living things here and everywhere.

Today we are many voices and at the same time one heart and one spirit. We testify that life does not forget its earthly cradle. Let our voices sweeten the air as we speak the words of the covenant together. Let us synchronize our heartbeat with that of Mother Earth and let our spirits shine in the light of the natural Sacred Law.

We pray that Father Sky and Mother Earth will forgive us and help heal the wounds that humans have inflicted on them.

Great Spirit of All That Is, hear our prayers and witness to our covenant. We send our thanks and blessings to all the ancestors and peoples on whose land we are gathering. We stand together, with our heads held high, acknowledging that we too are a life force, and embracing our direct connection with All That Is.

Session 18:05 – 18:15

Text to speak at 18:05 (Vision Image: Robin)

We thank you, the Winged Beings, for what you teach us and for your gifts. In your honor, we pledge our allegiance to the Living Air. We want to protect the atmosphere according to the natural, holy law. We, the peoples, the people, stand only behind those who understand that the atmosphere protects us and makes life possible down here, who clean the air again and keep it clean, restore the natural purity of rainwater, restore the ozone layer to an optimal state that serves evolution, and only support constructive technologies that mitigate climate change and make optimal use of it. We invoke our power of life and unity at this moment to bless the air with the healing powers we possess! Let the healing begin.

Session 18:15 - 18:30

Text to speak at 18:15 (Vision Image: Sperm whale)

We thank you, the swimmers, for your teachings and the gifts you give us. In your honor, we reaffirm our attachment to all water. We will protect the springs, lakes, watercourses and oceans according to the natural, sacred law. We, the people, only stand behind those who clean the water again and keep it clean, protect life inside and down there from any artificial influence and show respect for its inhabitants. We invoke our power of life and unity at this moment to bless the waters with the healing powers we possess! Let the healing begin.

Session 18:30 – 18:45
Text to speak at 18:30 (Vision Image: Igel)

We thank you, the quadrupeds, for your teachings and gifts. In your honor, we pledge our allegiance to the Living Earth. We want to protect the soil, the mountains, the minerals, the forests, the medicinal plants, the vegetation and the watercourses according to the natural, sacred law. We, the people, stand behind those who clean up the earth and keep it intact, preserve its resources, accept its gifts mindfully and sustainably, and show respect for its inhabitants. We remember that healthy and sustainable life on Earth is a self-sustaining, self-regulating, natural process. We invoke our power of life and unity at this moment to bless the Earth with the healing powers we possess! Let the healing begin.

Session 18:45 – 19:00
Text to speak at 18:45 (Vision Image: Couple)

We honor the bipeds who unite with us today, because we are all just the stewards of this planet and all the life that depends on it. We humans are one of the many triumphs of the great work of this earth and can help prepare the future that history has predicted. We vow to respect the gift of a Living Earth as we walk the road of life together. And during our luminous but short earthly lives, we promise to conduct ourselves according to natural law.

At the end of every day and at every dawn of a new morning, we want to remember it.

And as before, so now, we continue to stand behind those who make good decisions and only allow laws to come into force that take into account and secure the future of the children of the next seven generations. Let the healing begin.

Text to speak at 19:00 (Vision Image: Earth)

Blessed earth, you have heard our prayers and testify to our eternal covenant. Great Mother, know that You are loved and we ask You to accept this love as an aid to the deep healing that we have invoked and that is now on the way.

And finally, as we look around our circles, we realize that we too are loved. All of us, connected in this moment, have love for each other and hope for the future.

Great Spirit of All-That-Is, this is our song, this is our covenant.
